

Mass offering

Every Mass is celebrated for the salvation of the whole world: 'This is my body given up for you. This is my blood poured out for the many', said Jesus. However, it has always been possible for the celebrant to add to this general intention a particular intention that may be entrusted to him: for the soul of a deceased person, in thanksgiving, for a sick person, for a person in distress, for the conversion of sinners, for the intentions of the Supreme Pontiff, for a particular intention, for a wedding anniversary, for an important event, etc.
